

Silver Lake:

Difficulty: Drivable

Distance: 0 miles

Trailhead Elevation: 5325 feet; Trailhead Lat/Long: 47°21'38.61"N / 115°33'58.96"W

Lake Elevation: 5325 feet; Lake Lat/Long: 47°21'38.61"N / 115°33'58.96"W

Getting There: Take the Saltese exit and go under the old Milwaukee RR trestle. Follow up the main road (#305) for about 3.3 teeth jarring miles and bear to the right at the fork. It is another

ArcGIS Mapviewer | Esri, NASA, NGA, USGS, FEMA
| Copyright: © 2011 National Geographic Society

1.25 miles to the lake, but the road is much better at this point. The road is rocky and steep with few turnouts, your brakes will smell on the way back down to Saltese.

Silver Lake 2023

Another option is to come over from the Hiawatha Trail on the state line road (#391) and then come down road #305. This route is longer, but the road is better.

At the Lake: I have been to this lake just 2 other times, once in the winter decades ago and a few years ago on a motorcycle. I haven't fished it, so I am no help there, but I know there are fish. There are several beaten down campsites near the outlet when you first get to the lake. There is another campsite that is drivable around the left side of the lake, but turning around will be difficult for a regular sized truck. The state line road (#391) is a little more than 1.5 miles from the junction to the lake on road #305 and has good access to several other lakes and late season huckleberry picking.

Silver Lake 2023

Silver Lake 2023

